ONE MAN KILLED AS POLICE RAID ARDMORE RESORT

Herman Cheek, 24, is Slain
By Bullet in Side and Officer Arrested.

LIGHTS SNAPPED OFF

Battle in Dark Results
When Officers Break
Up Poker Game.

(By the Associated Press)
ARDMORE, Oct. 23.—Herman Cheek, 24, owner of a barbershop here, is dead following a raid on his place early Sunday night by police officers, (Harry Sites and Harry Foster. Sites is in the county jail charged with the shooting, and his preliminary trial will be held some time this afternoon.

According to information filed with the county attorney and the police, Cheek and Leo Knoff and C. M. Shelton were in the rear of the shop in a cleaning and pressing establishment owned jointly by Shelton and his brother, and at the time of the raid, were engaged in a poker game in a small compartment that had been used for a bath room.

When Sites got inside the place the lights were either turned off or were snapped out by a jar, the information shows. Sites fired one shot that went into the wall about six feet from the floor. A second shot struck Cheek in the left side, penetrating the intestines, it is said.

After the shooting, medical aid was summoned but Cheek died within a short time and before he could be removed from the building. Other men were arrested on a charge of gaming but were later released on bond.

Th officers gained entrance to the building by tearing open a screen door, which was locked, and kicking open the main door which was covered with paper mache board. The compartment in which the men were said to have been gaming was somewhat shut off from this door and the lights were on an extension hanging over the wall.

Officers say that when they came in on the men they said: "Boys, throw 'em up." According to the testimony of Knoff and Shelton, they heard no such command and they did not know the officers were in the building until they saw Sites just before the lights went out. They did not know whether he had his gun in his hand.

MUSICIANS TO FORM ANOTHER BAND FOR ADA

Music lovers of the city were pleased today with the announcement of Prof. W. A. Hill of the high school, that the community band, composed of players from the high school and the best musicians of the city, will begin the regular weekly concerts soon.

These concerts were given last year as an experiment and met with success. It is a great aid to the high school players inasmuch as it gives them practice and eliminates the "stage fright" of the new players, Mr. Hill said.

Players who are not in high school will be permitted to play in the band as it is considered essential that this be done in order to give music lovers the best in local talent. Most of the players will be former high students, however.

A meeting for these downtown players will be held at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening at high school building to discuss the plans for the community band. Many interesting programs are being planned.

BARN NEAR CITY BURNED SUNDAY; LOSS IS HEAVY

A large barn on the Simon Patton place, 3 1/2 miles southwest of Frisco, was burned Sunday morning about 10 o'clock, entailing a heavy loss, none of which was covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown. The place was occupied by Tom Groves.

Henry Teel who was painfully burned on the hands and feet while trying to save some of the contents of the barn, was in Ada this morning for treatment. He stated that 1,000 bushels of corn, 500 bales of hay, four bales of cotton seed, five cultivators, all the harness on the place and a mule belonging to Sam Roberts, were consumed in the fire.

Elks Notice!
Regular meeting tonight at 8 o'clock.

NEW PREMIER OF GREAT BRITAIN FACES GRAVE PROBLEMS; CHANGED HOUSE

Andrew Bonar Law.

Andrew Bonar Law, taking up the British premiership laid down by David Lloyd George, faces many grave questions. The British war debts, including those due the United States, alone presents a problem. The Russian policy is still undecided. The formation of the Irish free state will reduce the next house of commons from over 700 members to over 600 and this change, with what new faces the general elections will bring, will give Law a strange under house to work with.

Bobbed Hair Caused Riot in Her Camp

So Indian Princess Takes Herself into Exile as Flapper Outcast.

HATFIELD, Ill., Oct. 23.—Princess Newana Gayfish Winnebago, Indian beauty of Hatfield, Mis., upset a thousand years of tradition and her own domestic life when she bobbed her hair and introduced her fellow redmen to flapperism. Her father, Chief Running Wolf, and her husband, Dan Gayfish, put on a war dance that made the silent woods resound like a reunion of boiler-makers.

After the storm had cleared, Newana found herself an exile so far as her relatives were concerned. But not being easily disturbed, she accepted her misfortune with a smile and that evening she and her little son turned their backs on the old reservation.

Newana isn't worrying about the future. An uncle who lived in Nebraska died two years ago and left her $15,000 in cash and a large tract of land. There she has gone where she will attend to the cultivation of the land that was bequeathed her. She is 18 years old and has been married three years.

FEDERAL JURY TO PROBE STATEMENT OF ARMY OFFICER

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Investigation by the federal grand jury of a statement made by former Captain Robert Rosenbluth in connection with his indictment on a charge of murder near Tacoma, Washington, was to be started today. The former army officer is at liberty under $40,000 bond pending hearing of removal proceedings on Thursday. He is charged with the murder of Major P. Cromkhite at Camp Lewis four years ago.

One of the statements to be investigated and which was attributed to Jonah J. Goldstein, Rosenbluth's counsel, was made ten days before the grand jury was to hear the case against Rosenbluth. Persons closely associated with the department of justice made the direct proposal that it would be cheaper for Rosenbluth's friends to contribute a fund to prevent the indictment than it would go to trial.

REVIVAL AT LULA VISITED BY KLAN

Leader of Robbed Men Tells Congregation His Order
Favors Movement.

As a 10-day revival meeting, being conducted at Lula by Rev. J. A. Grimes of Ada, was being brought to a close Sunday night, a group of Ku Klux Klansmen appeared at the church and in a short speech, delivered by their leader, endorsed influence that had been wielded in that vicinity by the meeting.

Members of the Stonewall and Tupelo klans are understood to have been in the procession. Twenty dollar in bills was left with Rev. Grimes as the visitors departed. The robbed men filed into the church from two sides and formed a large crescent about the altar. A large man, in full regalia, stepped forth and delivered the klans' message in clear tones.

This meeting closed a series of evangelistic campaigns which has been conducted by Rev. Grimes in this part of the state the last few months. He reports enthusiastic support at Lula. There were two accessions to the church, one to the Methodist and one to the Nazarene.

Judge Learned Hand Dismisses Motion in Ocean Liquor Case

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Federal Judge Learned Hand today handed down a decision dismissing the motion of foreign and American shipping companies for a permanent injunction restraining federal prohibition agents from putting into effect the bone dry ruling of Attorney General Daugherty.

Judge Hand decided in favor of the government on all points. The decision was rendered on the specific matter of the application of foreign lines for an injunction protecting from the seizure of ships carrying liquor under seal on eastern bound vessels from the United States. The decision applies to both foreign and American lines because of the statement, made by Judge Hand during the injunction proceedings last week, that defeat of the motion of foreign lines would naturally bring about the defeat of the foreign lines' motion for an injunction.

Lloyd George.

MINISTRY COMPLETE

Unionist Meeting Votes
Chamberlain Thanks
for His Service.

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON, Oct. 23.—Andrew Bonar Law led the Unionist meeting today at which he was unanimously elected leader of the party, told the newspaper men he would accept the task of forming a new ministry.

The Unionists meeting, held at Hotel Cecil, was attended by 439 members of the party.

Mr. Bonar Law's election enables him to accept the task of forming a cabinet, thereby giving England her first conservative prime ministry since 1905.

It is understood Mr. Bonar Law's ministry is virtually complete.

The prime designate did not define his policy before the meeting, according to reports at the gathering, but intimated that he would do so in his speech at Glasgow, Saturday next.

Urges United Action
Mr. Bonar Law in his speech expressed the hope that those coalition unionists who had voted against the resolution passed by the Carlton Club meeting last week for a return to party independence would join their unionist brothers and go to the country as a united party.

The meeting voted thanks to Tustin Chamberlain, the retiring leader, for his services.

Mr. Bonar Law lost no time arranging for an audience with King George to take place at 5:30 this afternoon.

Referring to Mr. Lloyd George he said he was sure they would have a "pretty stiff tussle" but he hoped they would still be good friends afterward.

Mr. Bonar Law declared the Irish constitution must be carried out.

FAMOUS AUTHOR IS DEAD IN N. Y.

Lyman Abbott, Religious and Civic Leader, Was Editor of Outlook.

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Rev. Lyman Abbott, famous preacher and editor, died here Sunday.

The Rev. Lyman Abbott, D. D. was one of the most active leaders in many avenues of religious and civic thought in the United States. As preacher, editor, author and theologian he exhibited a quality of character which impressed itself on all who came in contact with him, a singular poise and serenity of spirit.

In his early youth, after graduation from the University of the city of New York, he studied law and was admitted to the bar, and afterwards practiced in partnership with his brothers, Benjamin V. and Austin Abbott. Giving up the law for theology, he studied for the Ministry of the Congregational Church with his uncle, S. C. Abbott, and was ordained at Farmington, Me., in 1860. His first charge was in Terre Haute, Ind., where he remained five years.

As editor of the Christian Union, which was later to be known as The Outlook, his work, in association with that of the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, marked him as a man of great promise and one who saw religion, not too narrowly conventionalized, but overlapping and spiritualizing many of the social and civic problems of the time.

Succeeded Beecher
After the death of Mr. Beecher, Dr. Abbott became pastor of Plymouth Church, in Brooklyn, where his predecessor had earned fame as one of the foremost pulpit orators in America. He was installed in Plymouth Church January 16, 1890, and remained in charge until 1899, when he resigned. He published a life of Henry Ward Beecher and a volume of his sermons.

TWO INQUIRIES MADE IN BLAZE

15 Lives Lost, 17 Injured and 150 Homeless in New York Fire.

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Two separate inquiries were launched today into the origin of the fire early Sunday morning in which 15 lives were lost, 17 injured and 150 persons made homeless. Fire Marshal Thomas Brophy was in charge of one investigation, and Assistant District Attorney John R. Henniss, of the homicide bureau, of another.

The fire was thought to have started under the main stairway in the hall of a 5-story double tenement structure. Six baby carriages had been parked there the evening before. In many respects the fire was similar to one on the same street a month ago in which seven lives were lost.

Six members of the family of Abraham Sugarman were burned to death, and five or six members of the Silver family lost their lives in the flames. Several of the dead were killed in jumping from the burning structure.

The fire made rapid headway, sheets of flame roaring through the wooden shafts and hallways up five floors in 15 minutes. Frederick Strokach was credited by police with having saved 18 lives. He was taken to a hospital severely burned.

REVOLUTION IS HAILED SUNDAY BY GREEK FOLK

ATHENS, Oct. 23.—The great revolution was acclaimed at a mass meeting in Place de Lay yesterday. Citizens of Athens and members of the revolutionary committee harangued the crowd while airplanes released thousands of bulletins forcing the nation's greeting to the "all saving revolution." Cries of "death to the traitors" came from Col. Plastiras, a member of the committee outlining the aims of the revolution criticizing those Greeks whom he charged, while seeking to lay the blame for the disaster in Asia-Minor upon the army, were themselves responsible by their misdeeds for the nation's misfortune.

This was an allusion to the imprisonment of premiers and military officers whose trials for treason await the decision of the next national assembly.

2 GIRLS, THOUGHT KIDNAPPED, FLEE FROM CRUEL MAN

Sisters Were Compelled by Hard Taskmaster to Call Him Dad.

HOME WAS DISRUPTED

But Girls Save Earnings and Return to Their Lost Brothers.

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Over the long distance telephone from Dover, N. J., Catherine and Pauline Wilson, camp fire girls, for whom a wide search was instituted in the belief that they had been abducted, declared today they would not return to live with their mother, from whom they ran away to join the roughers they were separated from five years ago.

With the discovery of the girls in Doer last night, the story of their unhappy lives in the home of a man who compelled them to call him "father" came to light. The man, George Magsen, known here as George Wilson, admitted he was not the father of the young sisters, whose real name is Fox, the police said.

Five years ago the girls were taken by their mother from their father at Washington, N. J., according to the story. They were taken to St. Louis where they met Magsen, a former neighbor in the New Jersey town. Magsen, the police said, had abandoned his family in Philadelphia and after meeting Mrs. Fox, and her daughters in St. Louis, came to Chicago where they all lived under the name of Wilson.

Last year the girls learned that their brothers, Clifford 17, and Christen 20, were living in Dover, the father having disappeared. The girls worked for months at odd times, doing housework and running errands until they saved enough money to take them to New Jersey. When the counted their savings last Friday they learned they had enough.

When the father dropped out of sight two years ago, the girls' brothers were taken in by a friend, Mrs. Edward Wilson.

"We had to clean two rooming houses every day, besides going to school, making the beds, dusting, sweeping and cleaning," was the word the sisters sent back from Dover. "It wasn't just the work, we were working for a strange man who was mean to us and whom we had to call 'father' when it hurt so much to say the word."

"We're not going to look for our father. He left our brothers and went away. Mrs. Wilson has been a good mother to Cliff and Christen and she will be the best mother we ever had."

OWSLEY APPEALS FOR BROKEN MEN

Aid for Wounded Vets is Sought by New Head of American Legion.

(By the Associated Press)
DALLAS, Oct. 23.—"I will appeal to the conscience of America in the matter of adjusted compensation for former service men," Col. Alvin M. Owsley, Denton newly elected commander of the American Legion, announced today in an interview with a representative of the Associated Press.

"In every state where the measure has been submitted to a popular vote of the people it has been approved by the people who desire to do the right thing for the suffering former soldiers whose time is nearly at hand. I believe in the justice and fairness of this measure. It is a question of the people of the United States understanding what the measure is. A great deal is involved in the answer the people make."

Colonel Owsley detailed his stand on the three measures of hospitalization, Americanization, and rehabilitation.

"Americanization is the great issue," he declared.

A EULOGY ON CLUB SERVICE

In this issue, under the caption "What the Clubs Are Doing", we have a long list of extremely valuable activities that have been brought about by the local clubs in their several communities. We heartily commend its careful reading by every member into whose hands this magazine may fall.

These activities are the heart and soul of Lionism! They are the fruits of the untiring labors of the committee who have worked unceasingly, supported by the club membership. They are the outcome of careful consideration of community needs! They are the Lion's response to the challenge found in every community. They are the evidence of the big hearts and keen brains of Club presidents, of secretaries and of civic committee men! They are the overwhelming evidence to the founders of this great organization and to those officers, directors and district governors, down to this present day, who have given of their time and personality and ability to its administration that is worth while.

They are the evidence that Lionism is made up of whole-hearted, wholesome-minded, red-blooded citizens, truly representative of their nation's highest standards of manhood, earnestly desirous of giving without stint the one thing that makes for the progress of the whole world, service.

Could this watchful world speak in audible voice, joining with the International in its appreciation of the great things accomplished, we should hear in thunderous tones "well done, good and faithful."

In reading of these activities, let us focus our grateful hearts on these "faithful" for a few moments. It has meant the giving of themselves! They have the gratitude of all Lions and of all thinking people who have benefited by their giving. They have done the things that have given Lionism a definite and prominent place in our nation's civic institutions. They have "hewed to the line", strong and true, and their worth is measured by their usefulness. They have had a living, breathing sense of the fact that there is something running through the warp and woof of life like a golden thread, something running through the whole world which says that service to humanity, service to others, is in the end the law of civilization. Their vision has been "upward" and "onward"! They have seen the better side of life; they have helped their fellowman to his better view.

God speed them!—Lions Club Magazine.

ANOTHER LEADER GONE

Press dispatches tell of the death of Gen. Adam R. Johnson at his home at Burnett, Texas. He was 88 years old and one of the last Confederate generals. He saw active service in Kentucky and Tennessee and took part in some raids into Indiana in course of which he captured a town by means of a battery of cannon made of stove pipe which he posted on a hill. The Federal commander at the sight of these guns surrendered. Finally the general had both eyes shot out and returned home to face a very uncertain future.

Resuming his residence at Burnett at that time almost on the frontier and in a country still subject to Indian raids, he set himself to succeed in spite of his great handicap. The lot of any Confederate was hard enough in those days, but in his case it appeared desperate indeed. However, in course of a few years he amassed a competence besides rearing a large family.

It was the general's dream and life's ambition to build a factory town at Marble Falls, on the Colorado river. Nature had thrown a natural dam of grey marble across the river and there was ample power to drive any amount of machinery. To this end the general spent considerable money on a railroad extension and laid off the lots. A town of 2,000 gradually grew up and a large building erected for a cotton factory, but from some cause no one could be found who would install the machinery and operate the factory.

While other men have had more written about them than General Johnson, his battle against adversity merits more than passing notice. Blindness is probably the greatest physical handicap that could be put on a man and many would have been inclined to give up in despair but he was a man thoroughly endowed with the spirit of the Old South and refused to admit defeat.

The passing of General Johnson leaves only a handful of several hundred Confederate generals. Time has taken its toll and this pioneer of Texas is one of the last of the leaders of the gallant host that wore the grey.

A can of cream at the express office is no longer a curiosity here. In fact, during the past year it is a sight that has become very common. Probably these cream shipments have not built up many bank accounts but they have beyond a doubt made it unnecessary for many to sign notes.

Cooperative Disaster

(Admirable)

McCurdin is again the scene of a serious mine explosion. According to latest news reports, eight miners have lost their lives.

This little town, in the county by the same name has been struggling for the past decade to recover from the effects of the most disastrous mine accident in the history of the state, in which seventy-eight miners were killed.

There is something about the miners working the property at which Friday's explosion occurred, which makes their condition unique in the history of such disasters.

The miners themselves were the shareholders in the lease under which the mine is being operated. The course which will be taken to ward the care of the families of men who lost their lives in this explosion will be an interesting chapter in the history of American industrial relations.

Jack Walton, democratic nominee for governor, in his campaign speeches, is referring to the McCurdin mine disaster of 1912 as an example of the need of closer relations between, and the recognition of the interdependence of, employer and employee.

Mr. Walton draws a very pathetic picture of the suffering which resulted to the families of the dead miners, and dwells on the fact that their condition was not relieved by assistance from the mining corporation.

The welfare of miners, as well as every other branch of industrial work, has been improved since 1912. Industrial insurance is one thing which comes greatly to the relief of an employee's family.

Although it has not been said just what will be done by the surviving miners for the families of the men who lost their lives Friday, we should think that their mutual interest would place them in much the same condition as pioneers establishing themselves in a primitive land. And these men are, in fact, pioneers in their venture of operating the mine which they own, or to put it more exactly, of owning the mine which they operate.

It is a sort of moral code of pioneers that they practice the most cordial and unsolicited hospitality, and, in the case of sorrow or sickness, or need of any kind, there is no limit to the ready service rendered by neighbors and friends.

It is quite probable that such a course will be followed by the surviving miners at McCurdin.

Three-Mile Limit

(Hugo News)

Rejection by Great Britain of the American proposal for a treaty to extend the right to search vessels up to 12 miles off shore has been declared in a note to Secretary of State, Hughes.

The American proposal was for a reciprocal right for search and seizure of vessels outside the three-mile limit. The territorial waters of nations with a coastal line as extending in international law as extending three miles off shore.

The American state department acting upon the urgent request of prohibition enforcement officers, proposed in its note to Great Britain, to extend this limit to twelve miles, or possibly twenty-five miles. Why these terms Great Britain would possess the same right with respect to American vessels off her shore.

can government has declared its intention to have the sale of liquor stopped on foreign vessels when they are within the limits of American territorial waters. If this is carried out, it would have the effect, under the proposed treaty, of delaying the sale of liquor on departing foreign vessels and stopping it on incoming vessels, for a matter of only a few hours.

The latest dispatches from Washington indicate that, with Britain's rejection of the treaty as drawn up, no further steps will be taken to make it acceptable.

But in spite of the fact that this treaty will work at this time with greater advantage to America than England, we do not believe that the negotiations will be dropped at this point.

When dispatches containing news of this extension of territorial waters first reached England, there was a great deal of criticism of it in the daily newspapers there. But their more conservative, far seeing journals and state-men, can recognize, that such a treaty holds more for Britain than for America. That is, in event of a future war.

Farm Commission is Placed in Platform of H. L. Misenheimer

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 20.—An interstate agricultural commission with power to fix prices of cotton, wheat and corn is advocated by M. L. Misenheimer, independent candidate for congress in the third district of Oklahoma.

Mr. Misenheimer, who is editor of a Hugo newspaper, has prepared a statement of the policies for which he stands at the invitation of The Associated Press. His statement follows:

"Among other things I advocate an interstate agricultural commission with power to fix the price of cotton, corn and wheat high enough to guarantee the producer a living wage and fair return on investment.

"Inflation of the volume of currency to that of the world war period or else deflation of the world war bonds to one-half their face value with interest at three percent.

"Direct election of federal judges and members of the U. S. supreme court for terms of six years, the same as district judges and members of the state supreme court.

"Impeachment and imprisonment of federal judges granting injunctions infringing on the constitutional guarantee of free speech, free press and peaceable assembly.

"Government aid for boll weevil infected districts in our own country and less money for the alleged relief societies.

"Amendment of the Volstead act so as to apply to the 'private stocks' of the rich 'lounge lizard' in our big cities the same as to the pint or quart in possession of us 'hill billies' here in Oklahoma, or its total repeal.

"Immediate prosecution to the limit of all war grafters and their imprisonment.

"A soldier bonus and any other remedial legislation which they may need.

"I endorse the farm bloc in congress and the national platform of the Shawnee program in its entirety."

CHURCH UNION IS BELIEVED NEAR

All Christendom May Hold to One Creed, World Conference Says.

(By the Associated Press)
 CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Church union and the possibility of all Christendom recognizing one creed appear to be a step nearer than they have for many centuries according to a report of the commission on the World Conference on Faith and Order which will be submitted to the general convention of the Episcopal church in Portland, Ore., next month.

The report announces there will be a meeting in Washington, D. C., in May, 1925, of delegates from nearly a hundred denominations, from a score of countries, to discuss the possibilities of Christian union. This will be a reconvention of the body which met in Geneva in 1920. Of this gathering the report says "deep differences were manifested but all were convinced that great progress can be made." At the Washington conference all the denominations present at Geneva are expected, including Anglican, Baptist, Congregational, Czech, Armenian, Disciples, Eastern Orthodox, Friends, Lutheran, Methodist, Presbyterian and Reformed churches. Before the conference meets the committee suggest that fundamental questions shall be discussed, the report suggests are:

 "1. What degree of unity in faith will be necessary in a re-united church?
 "2. Is a statement of this one Faith in the form of a Creed necessary or desirable?
 "3. If so, what Creed should be used? or what other formula would be desirable?
 "4. What are the proper uses of a creed and of a confession of faith?"

to what the church is and the place and function of a Creed," the report continues, "It seems futile to take up other. It has been well said that there is no church which has not something of value to give to its sister churches or to receive from them. If we believe that, let us tests its truth.

"At Geneva it was proposed that special commissions should be created for the study of dogmatic, historical and liturgical questions, and those concerning ministerial orders and authorities, as affecting the differences between Christian communions; and that negotiations should be opened between related communions for closer fellowship as a step toward the goal of complete union.

"The Eastern Orthodox churches are now very hopeful as to the world conference.

"An encyclical letter of the Holy Orthodox Eastern church of Constantinople was issued in 1920, urging the promotion of closer relations of friendship among the churches, and to that end, (a) the acceptance of a uniform calendar; (b) the exchange of brotherly letters; (c) a more friendly intercourse between the representatives of the various churches; (d) an intercourse between theological schools, and the exchange of theological and ecclesiastical periodicals; (e) the exchange of students between the seminaries of different churches; (f) the convening of pan-Christian conferences to examine questions of a common interest; (g) impartial and historical examination of doctrinal differences; (h) mutual respect for the customs and usages prevailing in each church; (i) mutual permission for the use of places of prayer and of cemeteries; (j) the settlement of the question of mixed marriages; and (k) the mutual support of the churches in the work of strengthening religious belief, of charity and the like. A favorable reply was made to this communication."

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—It is doubtful if Father will tell about this Big one—

By F. LEIPZIGER

CANCELLED

By MYRA A. WINGATE

"Jack," Elizabeth said to her brother at lunch, "do you know a stalwart savage who infests these shores—a handsome brute in khaki, with a pocket full of notebooks?"

Jack Darrell laughed delightedly. "That must have been Cameron," he said. "Botany's his hobby and literature his life work. He has a shack up the lake and never leaves for the city until snow flies. He's a boon companion of ours, with a glance across at his wife."

"A friend of yours," said Elizabeth, dismayed. "Why, I all but quarreled with him this morning. I got a ducking over there by the island and he helped me ashore. He was a perfect savage about my being out in a canoe, and I told him so. His departure was too abrupt to be polite."

"I'm sorry you said that," remarked Jack, soberly. "He was engaged to the queen of the summer colony here, three years ago. She used to call him the splendid savage. He's no society man, but a serious worker. He was in dead earnest, but she was only playing. The summer colony fairly buzzed with the affair, Cameron never looked at a girl before that, and hasn't since. Thinks they're all alike. You look about sixteen in that middy suit. He must have thought you were a forward flapper."

Elizabeth struggled with the hurt in her throat before she could say:

"How horribly cruel he must have thought me. I wish he had known that I didn't know."

It was a foregone conclusion that they should meet—almost a foregone conclusion that both should be attracted. Cameron held stubbornly aloof from a fear akin to that of the burned child. Elizabeth's pride matched his caution. She burned with shame over the memory of her unfortunate speech, while at the same time her proud spirit resented owing her life to a man too indifferent to be friendly. She longed for an opportunity to equalize what she felt to be an obligation.

On a midsummer afternoon Jack came in to say:

"Cameron broke an ankle today. I'm on my way down to the village to get a pair of crutches. Wilkins will put on a cast in a day or two."

Elizabeth, disturbed at Jack's news and annoyed with herself for being disturbed, rambled restlessly forth along the lake shore, turning aside presently to plunge deeper into the woods. The summer brought that held the north country in its grip had touched even the woodlands, so that the trees looked thirsty and the dead leaves and spills crackled underfoot.

Returning, she met the blue smoke cloud curling through the trees. The girl put one hand to a throat that suddenly smarted. While she watched, fire ran in the underbrush, climbed a small pine and leaped from tree to tree down to the lake shore. "On the right it ran far back into the woods, crackling and roaring as the draught increased."

Elizabeth's first thought was of Cameron alone in his camp in the very path of the fire. When she burst into the little clearing and ran up the knoll on which stood the picturesque log cabin, the wind-driven flames were already running in the dry grass, and cinders were sailing over the tree tops. Cameron, his face drawn with pain, was sitting on a wide couch opposite the door, evidently preparing to depart. Alarm leaped into his eyes at sight of the girl.

"Must I always be scolding you?" he asked. "Go down to the shore at once, where you can be safe."

Unheeding, Elizabeth knotted together the sleeves of her sweater and slipped it under the bandaged ankle like a sling.

"Now let yourself down and hitch along with your hands and your other foot. Hurry!" she commanded.

He obeyed. The shingles on the camp roof were already blazing as they made their ludicrous and painful way down the path. Behind them they could hear the shouts of the fire fighters rallying to meet the danger. Cameron lay quietly upon the long, cushioned seat, not attempting to speak until they were well out on the lake. Then he said:

"It wasn't safe, Elizabeth. Why did you do it?"

"Oh, there was a sort of obligation," she answered.

"There was not," he contradicted. "Look at me, Elizabeth. You do! And, oh, my dear, so do I! You could never fall anyone. You could never hurt anyone."

"How perfectly clear," returned the girl, giving the wheel a spin and turning a backward look upon the blazing camp. "I suppose we ought to have waited to get some of the things you valued."

"I've all that really matters right here," he answered. "Elizabeth, if an old grouse named Cameron should tell you he loved you, and ask you to marry him, what would you do?"

"I would probably accept," she remarked, gravely, "and live happily ever after, waiting on the old grouse."

It was some time later that Jack Darrell, smoke-blackened and anxious, paddled alongside.

"I thought as much," he remarked, mildly. "You could be expected to remember that your friends might be alarmed. You're all alike."

"No," said Cameron with conviction. "Elizabeth is different."

Money is almost unknown on Norfolk island, in the Pacific ocean, about $25 being all that is handled by the entire population in the course of a year.

2-Tier Skirt and Pull Sleeve in Canton Crepe

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

ON EVERY hand 'tis heard, "The silhouette is so entirely new." And 'tis true. The full sleeve, the long skirt, and the simplicity of the waist-line, all have their part in making the silhouette seem entirely different. "Every dress must be remade," 'tis also said. True, but never were two materials in combination so much in vogue; never before did we have novelty materials so just right for the new sleeves; never before was it possible to conceal entirely a "make-over" as at this time.

The original of this dress was of navy Canton crepe with gray embroidery of contrasting color, but it is a design adaptable to cloth or velvet and especially attractive for the latter, carrying as it does just the right simplicity.

Red Cross Gains Strength in All Foreign Fields

In insular possessions of the United States and in foreign lands the American Red Cross scored heavy gains during the last year, passing the previous membership high mark of 1918 by 4,261 and advancing the figure to 156,408. The Philippines take the lead, gaining nearly 100 per cent, now having 115,917 members. In Europe the 1921 Roll Call enrolled 11,125, with the Constantinople Chapter reporting 665, a gain of 33 members. China was 1,782 members, a gain of 566; the little Virgin Islands have 1,000, while the Dominican Republic with 2,927 advanced from its previous high mark by 1,423 new members. Haiti, organized in 1920, now has nearly 1,000 enrolled. Mexico reports 354, a gain of 327 in one year. The American Red Cross has spread its membership over some 70 foreign lands and its Junior membership outside of the United States is close to 700,000.

Red Cross Water First Aid Makes Life-Saving Gain

More than 325 Chapters engaged in life saving or water first aid last year with the result that the American Red Cross Life Saving Corps has set a new high mark for enrollment and the number of qualified life savers developed. The influence of "learn to swim week" in many localities is reducing the water fatalities through instruction and the wider dissemination of resuscitation methods demonstrated by the Red Cross representatives. Excellent work has been done in teaching a large part of the American population how to take care of itself in the water. Growing appreciation for this Red Cross Life-Saving Service is shown by the compulsory instruction adopted in many cities for members of the police and fire departments in the prone pressure method of resuscitation.

GRAND JURY TO HEAR EVIDENCE IN MURDER CASE

(By the Associated Press)
NEW BRUNSWICK, Oct. 23.—Prosecutor Azariah Bechman of Somerset county was expected to lay evidence in the Hall-Mills case before the grand jury today.

Great interest was manifested by authorities in a report that Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, slain rector, once employed a private detective to curb the activities of a man who Mrs. Eleanor Rhinehardt Mills, killed with the clergyman, had complained of annoying her.

An inquiry was begun today also into the report that another woman was involved in the love complicity of Dr. Hall and that he visited her alone in a Manhattan apartment. Authorities have learned that Dr. Hall sent a telegram to this woman early in August.

ATTORNEY GENERAL IS IN CHARGE OF PROBE
(By the Associated Press)

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 23.—At the request of Supreme Court Justice Parker, the attorney general's department today assumed charge of the investigation of the Hall-Mills murder case, Attorney General McCran deputizing Attorney Wilbur A. Mott of Essex county as deputy attorney general in charge. Mr. Mott will begin his duties immediately.

The action of Justice Parker was taken at the joint request of Prosecutors Stricker and Beckman of Middlesex and Somerset counties, respectively.

The announcement from the attorney general's office, came as a surprise in view of reports that the case was practically closed and indictments were to be asked of the Somerset county grand jury. It is taken here as an indication that the prosecutors admit failure and the mystery is not near solution.

OKLAHOMA CITY—Rosa Dobbs and Maude Spicer, two inmates of the state industrial school for girls, have been paroled to relatives by Gov. J. B. A. Robertson. The former was committed to the school by the Muskogee county court March 17, 1921, and paroled to her sister, Mrs. Lucy Wheat of Wetumka. The latter was committed from Washington county April 17, 1920, and paroled to Mrs. W. H. Thurston, of Bartlesville, her mother.

Music

"Music is a sacred, a divine, a God-like thing that was given to man by Christ to lift out hearts up to God and make us feel something of the glory and beauty of God."—Charles Kingsley.

MUSIC FAVORED OVER EMBROIDERY BY 238 TO 9

Girls of a middle western state almost unanimously place music as their favorite accomplishment. In the course of a careful study of girl life in the open country of the state the question was asked: "What is your favorite accomplishment?" Out of 269 replies 238 named music. Embroidery, the second choice, had only nine votes in its favor.

The answers received to this query are helping to solve the problem of how to create an acceptable social life for young people in the country. Not only does music meet the social need of young people, but the habit of singing together fosters the spirit of co-operation. The habit of singing together popular songs and hymns has given to country recreations and festivities a patriotic and religious character that is found nowhere else on so large a scale.

A great deal is being done in many places by means of the church choir. For instance, one minister has gathered the young people from the farms into his choir and has trained them so well that they are a source of joy to their community and are invited to sing at festivals all over the state. This same minister has revived the beautiful idea of the Easter serenade, and has also brought music and cheer to the aged and the "shut-ins" through his young people's choir.

The boys' band and the school orchestra are also used to advantage in these country regions. One progressive country minister in North Dakota is influencing for good the rough boys and young men in his community through a well-organized band, which has had as soothing an influence upon their turbulent spirits as the strains of David's harp had upon Saul.

Winter COATS Possess Rare Beauty of Coloring and Fabric

The new wraps are as definitely different from last year's as if they wore their dates on their sleeves—as indeed they do—for the sleeve line has taken on that change which makes the greatest difference—giving to every new wrap, be it bloused, circular, flaring, draped, caped, or straight, the new winter silhouette.

These coats typify the new luxurious mode of the winter—with their rich fabrics—as Marvella, Gerona, Wondora and Belverette—which have more bloom and less pile than last year's materials and their collars in luxurious furs or self material.

Games This Week May Show Fate of Ada's Gridiron Teams

HIGH SCHOOL FACES HARDEST BATTLE OF SEASON AT ARDMORE

College Tigers Will Meet Weatherford Machine; Fans are Hopeful.

This week will see the making or breaking of two football teams of this city. Ada high school will face its decisive battle Friday afternoon at Ardmore and East Central College Tigers will have their chance at Weatherford.

Dope is against both the home teams. They will be playing away from home and both will be playing teams much stronger than any aggregation they have faced. Weatherford Teachers College has been winning this year it is generally believed that Coach M. Z. Thompson's men will have a hard battle.

Ardmore has been given a decided advantage in the dope over the high school. The showing the two teams made against Purcell is taken as an indication of next Friday's possibilities. Ada got a 10 to 6 victory Purcell while Ardmore swamped Purcell 25 to 0.

Weatherford Teachers buried Oklahoma City College 77 to 0 while the Tigers got only a 31 to 7 victory over the same team. Weatherford has suffered a defeat this season, thereby being eliminated from the championship race. If Ada manages to obtain a tie game or a victory, it will mean that she stands a good chance to come out second or third in the championship race.

Ardmore trampled Duncan, one of the strongest high school teams in the west portion of the state, last Friday 43 to 0. Ardmore, has won every game this year. It will be remembered that she had the second strongest team in the state last year, losing the final game for state championship to Sapulpa by one touchdown.

The Turning Point.

A victory over Ardmore would practically assure Coach Cox of an all victorious season, for his schedule does not contain another game that promises to be as hard. He is harboring a hope that his squad will be able to win, however, and the youngsters are exerting every effort this week. It will take teamwork to win, Cox told them.

Thompson at the college is improving his college line-up. He stated that in the game with the Goldbugs that he discovered two or three players who were able to show up exceptionally well in the line. Linemen who have been loafing stand a good chance of being left at home on this trip, he said.

While the high school will have reached the climax of a season at Ardmore, the college is only starting out on its hard row. Following the Weatherford game comes Edmond College. This will be the hardest game of the year for Tigers. Then the Oklahoma School for the Deaf at Sulphur will be here and the Eagles of Oklahoma City are billed for a game. Wilburton Miners and Durant Teachers are also on the local schedule. This is incidentally the first nine game season for college in more than two years, an extra playing date appearing in November.

INDIANA GRID HOPES RISE WITH NEW COACH AND METHODS

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 23.—Picking a head football coach and introducing an entirely new system of play at the opening of the gridiron season is not the usual thing in such staid football circles as the Big Ten western conference. But necessity is the mother of invention and Indiana university, charter member of the Big Ten, has turned the trick this fall, much to the satisfaction of Indiana students and alumni.

The gloom cast over the Indiana football camp by the announcement that Athletic Director E. O. (Jumbo) Stiehm had been forced to undergo a serious abdominal operation on the eve of the 1922 gridiron season quickly cleared with the arrival of James P. (Pat) Herron as the head coach of the Hoosier eleven.

Hohlon, former all-American end at Pittsburgh, was serving his third year as first assistant to the famous Glen Warner when the call came from Indiana. Warner gave up Herron with the statement to the Indiana university athletic authorities that he was the only man Warner could unhesitatingly recommend.

"HERE'S HOW!" NO, DON'T LOOK FOR GLASS; MERELY FOOTBALL MENTOR ON THE JOB

Coach Pat Herron, right, showing Captain Bud De Groot how it's done.

"You see, Bud this is the way it's done," Coach Andrew Keri of the St. Louis university eleven talking explaining to Dudley De Groot, captain and center of the 1922 Stanford varsity, a point on how to snap the ball. Coach Keri didn't know a photographer was nearby when he told "Bud" a little joke. That's how it happened they got caught "full on."

MILL CREEK PLUNGES INTO GRIDIRON POND TO DEVELOP A TEAM

Though Inexperienced at Start of Year, Men Show Up Well.

MILL CREEK, Okla., Oct. 23.—(Special)—Starting the season with a squad of entirely inexperienced men, Mill Creek high school made its debut in the football world this year and although losing most of the games in the early part of the season, has managed to make a better showing than was expected and as the season advances the school is proving a formidable contender with its opponents.

The boys are showing a lot of fight and have broken into the game with an eagerness that promises to help them in their coming battles. Up to this week four games have been played. The first game (also the first football contest any Mill Creek player had ever taken part in or even seen) was played on the home grounds against Roff high school. Early in the game the Roff team scored and failed to kick goal. Mill Creek followed the example in scoring and kicked goal after touchdown, making the score 6 to 7 in favor of Mill Creek. Before the end of the game, however, the Roff squad had pounded its way to another touchdown and won the game 12 to 7.

Loss to Woodville.

The second game of the season was also played at home. Woodville furnished the opposition in this contest. As in the Roff game the visitors scored first and kicked goal. In the second quarter Mill Creek scored and failed to kick goal. In the last half the visitors crossed the goal line again and won the game 13 to 6.

Mill Creek's first trip of the season was to Roff where a return game was played. The home team made a desperate attempt to win but the result was a 13 to 13 tie. Incidentally this 13 to 13 score was made on Friday 13. Mill Creek claims 13 as her lucky number.

After playing the first three games without marked success, the locals obtained the needed experience and then took Sulphur to a sound thrashing. The final score was 34 to 13.—Mill Creek had the game from the start, punctured the Sulphur line at will, and scored often. To start the game, Mill Creek scored in the first few minutes on a fake play and had the advantage from this point out. Sulphur's best work was in the air, their passes accounting for both their touchdowns.

Following is the Mill Creek schedule, played and to be played:

- Sept. 29—Roff High school at Mill Creek.
- Oct. 6—Woodville at Mill Creek.
- Oct. 13—Roff at Roff.
- Oct. 20—Sulphur at Mill Creek.
- Oct. 27—Wynnewood at Mill Creek.
- Nov. 3—Murray aggies (seconds place not decided).
- Nov. 9—Sulphur at Sulphur.
- Nov. 17—Wynnewood at Wynnewood.
- Nov. 24—Mansville at Mill Creek.
- Nov. 30—Woodville at Woodville.

COLLEGE YOUTHS BETTER LOOKING GYMNAST STATES

(By the Associated Press)

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 18.—College boys are becoming better looking each year, Prof. L. C. Krenz, director of physical education of Northwestern university, declared today in summarizing reports of physical examinations of 300 freshmen of the university.

Professor Krenz attributed this advancement in beauty to the new plan adopted almost universally in high schools of giving students two years of health training.

Improvements in physical condition of students since the institution of health training in high schools, as noted by Professor Krenz, are clearer skin, greater interest in health education, better carriage and posture and greater interest in athletics.

"High schools generally are devoting close attention to the health of their students and are requiring at least two years of physical training of all students," said Health Director Evans. "Prof. Krenz shows that the work of the physical education department of our high schools is bearing fine fruit. As years pass, the physical standards of all incoming collegians will be higher because the public authorities are taking such keen interest in health matters."

"Our freshmen this year show that they are gaining by reason of special training in hygiene," commented Prof. Krenz. "They have been bearing in high school and at home that better living conditions mean better health and they realize that it pays also to know how and what to eat."

IOWA SEEMS DESTINED

To furnish the all-American quarterback.

With the passing of Aubrey Devine last year Howard Jones found himself confronted with the problem of producing another quarter and team general. Several other colleges retained the quarterback stars that vied with Devine with honors at his position last year. And then when the experts started looking for all-American candidates this year Jones presented to the public Mr. Deland Parkin. (Gentleman he is called.) And Parkin's work in the recent game with Yale stamps him as a second Devine.

Yale, knowing that Devine was gone, selected Gordon Locke, wonder fullback and line-plunger, as the man to be stopped if Yale were to triumph in the famous Jones duel. Locke lived up to his reputation. But the scintillating star of the game was Parkin. He not only handled the team with consummate skill, but he rendered an exhibition of tackle dodging, open field running, forward passing and general all-around playing that made even the closest Iowa followers who had seen him earlier in the season awe.

Parkin has that "eel" style of eluding a tackler, which made Eddie Mahan famous. The Iowa quarter keeps on his way until he is apparently tackled, then, by the elusive wriggle, leaves his man landed grotesquely on his ear in mother earth with clouds from Parkin's shoes landing about him.

Keep your eye on Parkin.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush your kidneys occasionally if you eat too much meat

No man or woman who eats lots of meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much meat may form uric acid, which clogs the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood; then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding set about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a table-spoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus often ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby preventing serious kidney complications.

OIL FIELD WORKMAN CONFESES TO MURDER

ENID, Oct. 23.—John F. Stockwell, 54, oil field worker, Covington, Monday morning confessed to the county attorney that he was the slayer of his cousin, Ira Schaffer, 32, whose body was found in a creek on the farm of his mother, Mrs. Jim Headley, near Marshall, late Friday. The alleged confession repudiates a statement Sunday to officers in which he denied the slaying.

OKLAHOMA CITY—Two building and local associations located in Sand Springs and Guymon have increased their capital stock issues to a million dollars each. ## THESE CHILDREN STUDY EVEN WHEN IN HOSPITAL

This photograph was taken during "school hours" for children in the Robert W. Long hospital at Indianapolis.

Even being in a hospital does not keep Indiana children from continuing their studies. They observe "school hours" in the children's ward of the Robert W. Long hospital at Indianapolis. This hospital, which is part of Indiana university, provides the only twelve beds in the state of Indiana for the free treatment of the 10,000 children in the state which a recent survey indicates need hospital attention. The cornerstone has been laid, however, for the $2,000,000 James Whitcomb Riley Hospital for Children, which will meet the need for Indiana's sick children. The new hospital will also be a department of Indiana university.

Farmers' Column

By Byron Norrell

There may not yet be much "frost on the punkin," but that the season suggested by Riley has rolled around and the farmers are about ready for winter. A round I took Friday afternoon showed that cotton is nearly all out, corn is in the crib, the hay has been baled and stored, some of the potatoes dug and the peanuts in the stack waiting the arrivals of the thrasher. The dry weather is holding back the farmers from their plowing and the prospect for fall and winter pastures is anything but good.

On this trip I took the train to Ford switch and then traveled a few miles on foot. After a chat with Jess Lee, east of the switch, I went to Charley High's where I found him and Mr. Crews drilling a well. Mr. High said his old well had caved in and that the question of water was rather serious with him just now. He raised a crop of peanuts, four or five acres, and these he had carefully stacked and is waiting for the thrasher. He said if he gets a good turnout he will increase his acreage next year. Mr. High is quite a successful melon raiser and next year may experiment with commercial fertilizer as a means of giving his plants an early start and thus make it possible to compete with the Texas crop in the market.

He has decided that the Tom Watson is not the melon for this. His opinion is that the Halbert Honey is best for the local market and the Irish Grey for shipping. Judging from what I saw of the effects of this fertilizer on vegetables at the pickle factory last spring, I am of the opinion that some fertilizer will help to get all kinds of vegetables along early and it is the early stuff that brings in the money.

I next stopped at Morgan Wright's a mile south of Oakman. Mr. Wright came to this country from Tennessee seventeen years ago and he settled on the place where he now lives shortly after his arrival. He has a comfortable home set on the top of a slope that insures him against the mud. He stated that the cotton on his place had made a little better than a fifth of a bale to the acre this year, which was quite an improvement over 1921. He is devoting some attention to hogs and will soon have some ready for market. He has about a dozen colonies of bees but said they did not do anything out of the ordinary this year.

I heard that a peanut thrasher was at W. M. Carter's, so I went to his place next, but the machine was not at work. Mr. Carter was one of the first men in that community to plant peanuts and he has raised a crop every year since he began. He has a nice lot of them stacked in his field and the Oakman community will doubtless show up well when the thrasher has finished its round.

Mrs. Duvall is giving considerable time to meat canning demonstrations. A number of club members are canning calves and others are preparing to do so. Calves are worth little on the market but when canned provide a supply of good meat.

The second Trades Day drawing at Ada will be pulled off November 6. The committee has secured most, if not all of the prizes, cow hog, chickens, etc., and the holders of the lucky tickets will come for some good stuff. The first drawing, pulled off the last day of the county fair, drew an immense crowd. There is one thing about these drawings, every ticket holder has already got his money's worth from the Ada merchant's and those who hold lucky numbers are just that much ahead.

Oklahoma Crop Notes
Oklahoma City, Oct. 21.—The weather the past week has been generally fair, with scattered showers. Temperatures have been seasonable with higher averages recorded during the latter part of the week. Light killing frost was reported from several localities Wednesday morning, but did no particular injury. As a whole the week was ideal for out-door work and cotton picking and the harvesting of minor crops progressed very satisfactorily.

The drought still continues in the central and western portions of the state delaying the seedling of winter wheat and rye. Unless the drought is broken soon, there will most probably be a material decrease noticed in the wheat acreage. In the eastern part of the state, wheat is up or is coming up to a fair stand and is generally in good condition. Much of the wheat sown in dry soil has not yet come up, while that which did not have sufficient moisture to germinate has deteriorated considerably. Official yield per acre figures on the principal crops are being gathered at present and will be released in the general crop report of November 8th.

Many suggestions are being offered the Board of Agriculture from cotton planters, ginners, etc., in regard to the most effective means of promulgating a Clean-Up Campaign in the extermination of the boll weevil. All agree that right now is the time to start this work and that we must function collectively in order to obtain the best results. It is generally felt that the cleaning of fields, fence rows, etc., last year by the planter resulted in a fair crop of cotton and a decrease in injury done by the weevil.

The Board of Agriculture intends to summon to its offices one day next week a number of actual growers together with ginners and others interested in the successful growing of cotton for the purpose of discussing a Clean-Up Campaign. Every cotton grower, whether injured by the effects of the weevil this past year or not, will be urged to help himself and his neighbor by cleaning his fields, fence rows, plowing under all stalks and rubbish and in general make the path of existence for the boll weevil hard to travel. A successful fight against this pest must be carried on by every individual to end in satisfactory results. Community meetings will be suggested as a means for farmers to get together and plan for the eradication of the weevil.

Consumption of American cotton by foreign countries was 30 percent greater for the 12 months ending July 31, 1922, than during the previous season. Among the larger foreign consuming countries showing an increase over the preceding 12 months were Great Britain 34 per cent, Germany 35 1-2 per cent, France 24 per cent, Italy 6 per cent, Spain 31 per cent and Japan 35 per cent. Great Britain leads in the consumption of American cotton with a total of 2,038,563 bales for the year 1921-22.

In the central and western portions of the state, there is much less than the usual amount of rough stock feed. Also winter wheat pasture prospects seem to be rather poor but will be greatly aided by generous rains.

J. A. Whitehurst, President.
State Board of Agriculture.

Produce Market Bulletin
CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Poultry receipts were heavier during the week, with good demand for current and freezer requirements. Markets are closing on a firm basis. This is the time of the year to go through your flocks and market the old fowls that are through laying.

Deliveries of cream to creameries have been lighter this week, with a continued demand from consuming trade for butter. The market on butter is closing firm and slightly higher than a week ago. Many producers are finding extra feeding profitable, because of the increased milk flow. Real fresh eggs are selling a little higher, but much of the stock the Outlook, in which he was associated in his long career with many famous men, including Theodore Roosevelt, he sought to interpret the different orders of political organizations from the Christian viewpoint.

Those who were near him during this part of his life, say that extraordinary working power was one of his chief characteristics. Moderation and sanity were the chief notes of his temperament and attitude. He commanded attention by his transparent sincerity and by a gift of clear persuasive statement.

The range of Dr. Abbott's connection with civic enterprises was very wide; he had intimate association with betterment work in many fields. He held office in at least a score of organizations for city, state and national, and even international reform, and was actively interested in many others, including societies for child, civil and prison reform, charity organizations, forestry associations and the American Red Cross Society.

A Rational Optimist
Dr. Abbott was known not only to his friends and co-workers but to the public as well, as a rational optimist; one who sees clearly present obstacles and evils, but is confident that the creative forces in society are making for the freedom and happiness of men, and must prevail.

The ardor for spiritual achievement kept him always at high points of observation and explains in a measure the harmony he was able to establish between himself and his work, which was prodigious for a man of slight physique and small muscular strength.

Before starting on what might be called his ministerial career, he in collaboration with his brother, wrote two novels: "Cone-cut Comers" and "Matthew Caraby."

His most important volumes are: "The Result of Emancipation in the United States," "Old Testament Shadows of New Testament Truths," "A Layman's Story," "Dictionary of Religious Knowledge," "A Study in Human Nature," "The Theology of an Evolutionist," "The Evolution of Christianity," "Social Problems," and "Problems of Life."

The following saying is at once widely quoted and characteristic of him: "He who denies the Brotherhood of Man is as much an infidel as he who denies the Fatherhood of God."

Dr. Abbott was born in Roxbury, Mass., December 18, 1835. In 1857, he married Abby Frances Hamlin, who died in 1907. By her Abbott had six children, two of whom, Earnest H. and Lawrence F., were associated with him in the management of the Outlook.

DODGE BROTHERS BUSINESS SEDAN

Exceptional interest has been aroused by the practical arrangement of the interior.

The entire rear compartment furnishings—seat, seat cushions, back cushions, seat frame, foot rest, carpet and all—can be removed from the car in a few moments.

The front seat is then tilted forward, giving a gross clearance of twenty-two inches through the rear doors.

In this way, a space of sixty-four cubic feet in the rear compartment is made available for loading.

When the rear seat fixtures are back in place, the interior is complete and attractive in appearance. Its convertibility is not apparent to the eye.

Business men, farmers, salesmen, campers, tourists and everyone who has occasion, at times, to carry bulky articles or luggage, will readily appreciate the great utility of this construction.
